Inspire Mentoring

There is a common misconception that mentoring requires a lot of time and that a busy schedule prohibits you from making a difference in someone else's life. However, it doesn't take a lot of time to "Inspire" someone. Mentoring is about creating relationships with different people and encouraging growth. If you have ever been provided an "aha" moment, a memorable quote, or help in uncovering an ability or talent by someone else, then we encourage you to pass your experience and expertise forward and become an Inspire Mentor. Below are the expectations we have of Inspire Mentors:

- To share knowledge, expertise, advice, and growth experiences with mentee in reference to major and career aspirations.
- To meet face-to-face at least once a month with mentee (additional interaction is encouraged via email and/or phone calls).
- To establish a valuable relationship from which both mentor and mentee can benefit. Share your strengths.
- To provide mentee with applicable resources that are beneficial to the growth of the student, professionally and academically.

"We must not, in trying to think about how we can make a big difference, ignore the small daily differences we can make which add up to big differences that we often cannot foresee."
 -Marian Wright-Edelman

Inspire Women's Leadership Mentoring Program

Established by the Student Leadership Development office at the University of Central Florida (UCF), Inspire Women's Leadership Program was developed to transform UCF women students into campus, business, and community leaders capable of adapting to a changing world. We are seeking motivated, dynamic, and influential women in the Central Florida community to serve as mentors to the young women of UCF involved in this inaugural year of the Inspire Women's Leadership Program.

Specifically designed for dedicated, ethical, articulate, and solution-oriented leaders in the world community, Inspire aims to prepare women to be authentic leaders in a changing world. Inspire students learn leadership skills that are critically important to be a successful professional woman in today's job arena through seminars facilitated by experts in the field of business, communication, and education.

- The Inspire Mentoring program will:
- Prepare students to become leaders and change agents in the global community.
 - Expose students to leaders in the public and private sectors of the community.
 - Cultivate a cadre of new leaders who appreciate their own values and the views of others.
